Check on your neighbours

Helping those in need

Neighbours can include people in your street, unit block or wider community. There may be some people in your community who need more help than others in an emergency situation.

Think about people in your neighbourhood who may need your help, for example:

- Older people living at home by themselves
- People with disabilities or illnesses
- Single parents with young children
- Large families
- New members of the community
- People that are isolated
